

Multiple integrated circuit devices in a stacked configuration that uses a spacing element for allowing increased device density and increased thermal conduction or heat removal for semiconductor devices and the methods for the stacking thereof.

[illegible]